

Anand Mahindra

Anand Mahindra is a leading Indian businessman and he brings to the Museum Board a depth of expertise in business and leadership. He started his four-year term on 1 January 2015.

Since 2012 Anand Mahindra has held the role of Chairman and Managing Director of Mahindra Group, a £10.5 billion ($16.5 billion) organisation that is one of India's top 10 industrial houses. He has held a series of progressively senior roles in the Mahindra Group, having started his career at Mahindra UGINE Steel Company (MUSCO). He holds an MBA from Harvard Business School, having also completed undergraduate studies at Harvard College.

Anand Mahindra's renowned business acumen and international vision is an excellent addition to the Board and enables the Museum to forge even stronger links with the global business community.